Involvement in the Cottesloe Boardriders' events and related activities carries significant risk of damage to property, personal injury or death. Cottesloe Boardriders recommends the professional instruction before entering into any competition or other activity. You should become knowledgeable about the risk involved and assume personal responsibility for your actions. You must exercise your own ability to safely protect yourself from the inherent risks and dangers of competition and other activities. Do not compete in competitions or other events unless you are a skilled and experienced surfer who understands and accepts the risk of participating in dangerous sports and activities. Members shall not hold the Cottesloe Boardriders Club or its Committee responsible for any incidents related directly or indirectly to competitions or other activities. Cottesloe Boardriders assumes no liability or responsibility for your actions.
